Mayor Tim Kelly to Speak at Special Announcement on Chattanooga's Participation in Innovative New Program to Advance Park Equity

WHAT: The City of Chattanooga and Trust for Public Land will announce Chattanooga's participation in an innovative new program designed to address the challenges cities face to improving park access — from gaps in connectivity to finding ways to authentically engage residents in park planning. Chattanooga is one of six cities selected to participate based on its commitment to advancing local park goals, its readiness to explore and adopt new strategies, and its potential to advance field understanding and best practices to other cities.

WHEN: Wednesday, Aug. 3, 2022, 9:30 to 10 am

WHERE: The future site of Provence Street Park
3344 Provence St, Chattanooga, TN 37411

WHO: The following individuals will speak at the announcement:

- Mayor Tim Kelly
- City Councilwoman Demetrus Coonrod
- Scott Martin, Administrator of Chattanooga Parks and Outdoors
- Noel Durant, Tennessee State Director, Trust for Public Land
- Angie Beahm, Olde Town Brainerd Resident
